Petition to First Bradford

Date: 10/10/2018

We the undersigned, petition First Bradford to revoke the changes to the 633 bus service from half hourly to hourly. The half hourly bus service is vital to the community of West Bowling and the changes will have an enormous negative impact on the people who rely on the service to get to school, work and appointments at services locally such as the doctors surgery at Woodroyd and the Post Office on Gaythorne Rd. There are groups and clubs locally that may not be accessible without this service meaning that the elderly or young families are not able to access services that contribute to their well-being and prevent isolation and loneliness.

First, please reconsider these changes and keep our 30 min bus service.

Performance Review Document

Introduction and Guidance

This is the Performance Review document. It's to be used by the staff member and line manager to document notes in preparation for a Performance Review meeting. The recommendation is that both staff member and line manager use this document at the end or beginning of each month, to document goals, objectives and progress on projects or working duties, with a more structured meeting to conduct a review and assessment of progress on a quarterly basis.

The format is based on a simple, and structured approach following the GROW coaching model, which enables both manager and staff member to create an environment of open, objective, two-way discussion.

A natural processes that we recommend for maintaining Performance Review information is as follows:

Section A: Performance Review Objectives

This section directly relates to specific detail of job accountabilities and duties (usually from the Role Profile) and from which SMART objectives in the form of tasks and outputs, can be constructed. It's the main workload of the staff member, and the area that forms the largest part of the Performance Review.

What specific SMART objectives have been set, and what progress has been made by the staff member, towards meeting and completing these objectives? A recommended process to follow is:

- 1. Set Objectives. Ensure a staff member has some working and/or learning objectives as part of their everyday work, that can be reviewed, and would be recorded by the manager in the Goals sections, with specific notes of what evidence of achievement, completion, or progress would be suitable, noted in the adjacent column.
- 2. Make Notes. During the course of the review period, the staff member should make notes about activity and progression for achieving these goals in the 'Reality' section. This can be done at any time, but certainly prior to the any Performance Review meeting, in order for the line manager to review the content and compare with his/her own findings.
- 3. Self-Review. The staff member would compare the Reality with the Goals and consider any options for doing things differently; this may include working processes, practices, task, activities, learning, and approach.
- 4. Meeting Preparation. The staff member would notify the line manager of the location of this document, and confirm that it is ready for review.
- 5. Review Meeting Date. The line manager would organise and confirm a 1:1 Performance Review meeting date to discuss the review period in question, and prepare their own assessment of the content, which should have already been prepared by the staff member, noting any omissions or points to be raised.
- 6. Two-Way Discussion. Both the line manager and staff member would use this document in 1:1 Performance Review meeting, and record any actions in the Will section, and any new objectives for the next period.
